Editorials

WE WONDER!

Rabbi Maurice N. Eisendrath

We quite agree with our always astute editor, f.f.c., in her rather skeptical reaction to the now famous symposium which "The World Tomorrow" recently conducted among the Protestant ministers of the United States hearing upon their present attitude toward War. We heartily concur in the statement contained in her article in the Canadian Jewish Review of May 15th. maintaining that any optimism over the disapproval of war on the part of an overwhelming majority of American pastors must of necessity be regarded as "premature", for "it is the easiest thing in the world to be in favor of peace in time of peace." Indeed, the record of the ministry—and rabbinate—has been stained too vividly with scarlet to lay the pleasing unction to our souls that the Church—or Synagogue—can be counted on now as absolute bulwark against any future carnage. While we firmly believe that more ministers than ever in the past will in the future have done with this grim business of battle, yet we are pessimistic enough to feel still that vast numbers now must eloquently pacific will once again turn their churches into recruiting stations when the bands begin to bray. The moratorium which all our pious pastors declared upon all the most precious principles of their faith in the last war, makes us, like f.f.c., somewhat dubious as to just how courageously our rabbis and ministers might follow their Hebraic prophets or their Nazarene if the guns again should speak.

Thus far we agreed with the article referred to above. But when we read on and stumbled across this amazing sentence: "All Jews are so opposed to war that it is almost impossible to find one who has the gentile zeal for sending a son by music to front line trenches," we wondered. Can it be true? Would that it were. But daily contact with large numbers of our co-religionists over a period of many years has aroused in our mind a suspicion that, correct as that statement may have been a century or two ago (although even that is subject to reservation) it is no longer so. As a dogmatic and absolute pacifist our preachment has too frequently, and sometimes too bitterly, been challenged by our own people to believe that "all Jews are opposed to war." We have encountered many Jewish mothers who were stupidly proud of the uniforms their sons wore, of the medals they won for murdering their fellowmen: perhaps even their fellow Jews. We have argued with Jewish fathers aplenty who believe that the so-called Jewish "mission of Peace" is all very well in its time and place, but its place is never in front of a recruiting station nor its time in the hour of war. We have heard too many of our co-religionists zealously proclaim "America First," "Canada First," Deutechland Uber Alles," to agree with the writer of "every Friday," that "to fight for a country is not their (the Jewish) idea of true patriotism," or "to keep a country out of war would be more like a Jewish idea of patriotism." All of which sounds excellent, but can it be proved by the facts? How many Jewish conscientious objectors could we Jews boast during that last fever fit that humanity suffered? How many Rosika Schwimmers have we? A few, yes; but not nearly enough to warrant such generalizations. No better patriot can be found anywhere than the naturalized Jew,—and this we say not with the pride of the "one hundred per center", but with the humiliation of one who places humanity above nation or state.

More fallacious, however, than the reasoning of f.f.c. is the utterly ridiculous assertion made in last week's "Telling It in Gath" column, a syndicated potpourri of Jewish "schmoos" written by Rabbi Louis I. Newman. Such an example of pure, unadulterated chauvinism, of such loose and unobjective thinking we have rarely seen. Says Rabbi Newman: "Charlie Chaplin has just declared patriotism to be a form of human madness. He has also denounced the tendencies making for war in terms which convince me more than ever that he is a Jew. (italics ours). How absurd!

What Charlie Chaplin has said is laudable indeed, and we rejoice therein. If he be a Jew, we are doubly glad; but to maintain that his saying it proves his Jewishness is naive, to say the least. He has said nothing that Romain Rolland has not said more eloquently, more prophetically, more daringly—at a time when it demanded greater sacrifice. If any recent statement on war reflected the spirit of the Hebrew prophets, it was Rolland's "Broaden Europe, or Die." Strange that Sherlock Holmes" Newman did not proclaim him a brother Jew. John Galsworthy recently said, "In 1931 not to believe in the need for peace is to be the village idiot." H. G. Wells has called upon his fellow Britishers to enter into an "open conspiracy" blatantly to repudiate any future participation in War. Thus also have spoken George Bernard Shaw and Jane Addams. The only minister in the United States whose war record was absolutely without blemish in that he refused to have his church exploited for anything—liberty loan drives, Red Cross rush, etc.—related to war, was John Haynes Holmes. Were these, then likewise sons and daughters of Israel? Was Rabbi Newman thereby convinced more than ever that they too were Jews? And on the other hand what happened to the Hebraic spirit of Peace in all but a pathetic few of our Rabbis—in Wise and Krass; yes, and Newman too.

Ah yes, we have our Albert Einstein and our Salmon O. Levinson, but how many Jews are wearing 2" buttons or are with them in the forefront of the fight for peace? To identify pacifism—which, for the moment, seems to be a popular fad—with Jewishness today is grossly dishonest thinking. With the exception of Levinson, Einstein, a few Jewish writers and rabbis, the peace movement is almost wholly in the hands of the gentiles, who, some would say, are more ode their country is "triumphant in murder."

All of which we say not as a preying critic. But in less humiliation and shame; in the vague hope that in looking once more in the face the Jew may recognize how far short of its prophetic path it has fallen, and may rise to fulfill its historic mission of Peace to a war weary world. Pacifism cannot today be identified with the Jew as can not so easily, as Rabbi Newman suggests, recognize the Jew as his peace loving preachments. God grant that soon this may be true.

A splendid opportunity will be afforded Toronto Jewry, this week end, to refute—not by mere verbal challenge which will prove nothing, but by actual deed—everything that we have said above and to demonstrate contemporary Israel's passion for peace. Under the auspices of the Toronto Branch of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, a most alluring Institute on the Economic Bases of Peace is to be held this Friday, Saturday and Sunday at "Wynnewood," 84 Queen's Park. A vital and challenging program has been arranged and most excellent speakers have been secured. Foremost among these is Jane Addams, whom we shall be privileged to hear on Sunday night. Other noted speakers include Dr. Jessie Taft, Dr. Farland and Agnes MacPhail. On Saturday evening, in the auditorium of the New Library on St. George Street, the principal address for one of the Temple Sisterhoods of the United States is Mrs. Vol. Hyman from John Haynes Holmes stirring sermon, "The Unknown Soldier Speaks," is to be presented and open forum Round Table discussions are to be held during the morning and afternoons. A rare opportunity is ours to demonstrate what reminiscence we Jews are our prophetic preachment of Peace. Heretofore, we regretfully have failed to find many of our co-religionists [illegible] interested in this greatest of all causes today. We trust that the Institute at Wynnewood will be largely attended by our fellow Jews so that all we have said above will be correctly disproved. To attend the sessions of the Institute, reservations must be made at once. The registration fee is only two dollars, and may be sent to Mrs. [illegible] Sussman, 4 Sumach Road.

No matter how large or how small your estate, it will suffer heavy deductions before it reaches your wife or family. Doctors, nurses, hospitals, undertakers, lawyers, etc., not to mention succession duties, if the estate be considerable, will reduce the net amount payable to your heirs by anything from 10% to 25%.

Take your pencil and try a simple sum in arithmetic using an actual case as an example.

Total face value of all your life insurance policies	$ 5,000	$
Estimated value of my real estate, securities and other assets	$ 5,000	$
Total	$ 10,000	$
Less 15% as estimated above	$ 1,500	$
Total net estate	$ 8,500	$
Invested in good securities at 5% I should yield my family an annual income of	$ 425	$

QUEEN ANNE FURNITURE

The Queen Anne style marked the ascendency of the curve over the straight line and the trend towards lighter and more graceful furniture. Round corners and smooth curving predominated; chair arms and backs were curved to fit the body; seats were widened; upholstering supplanted caning. Everything about it resulted from a desire for more comfort; the Queen Anne style forms the link between the heavy timber bracing of preceding periods and delicate style of the late Georgian makers, notably Hepplewhite and Sheraton. Stretchers, when employed varied from the preceding forms by being recessed between the front legs, but they disappeared altogether during the period. The outstanding detail is the Cabriole leg, without doubt the most pleasing support employed by designers on furniture. The type was anciently used in China and Egypt and was brought to England by Dutch traders. It is found also on Chippendale and Louis XV articles, but elaborately carved, whereas on Queen Anne is it plain except when the knee is carved with the cockle shell, distinctive and favorite ornament. The "Cabriole" is capable of innumerable variations and is adaptable to both long and short members. Another distinctive feature is the single curved splat of the rather high chair backs, which are called "fiddle-backs" because they are shaped like that instrument. Splats were also shaped like a vase and always slightly raked and spooned to give comfort. The curve feature is also present in the sweep of the uprights of back into the hooped top rail, which was often featured by a carved crest. The seats were broad, rounded at the corners, often bowed in front, narrower at the back and upholstered, often in embroidery. The familiar capital "S" or inverted scroll curve, technically known as the Cyma curve, provided the favorite contour for shaping the members. It will be found again and again in the seat rails, backs, skirts of tables and highboys, in splats and in fact, in every place giving opportunity for shaping. Broken or swan neck pediments vary the outlines of cabinets. Some marquetry was employed, but the beauty of walnut, the wood of the period set off at times by gilding, is the glory of this style. Mahogany came into use in the latter part of the period, and is largely used in modern adaptations of the style though, of course, walnut is also extensively employed. Queen Anne is one of our most beautiful furniture styles and in the hands of modern craftsmen it has lost none of its early grace. It meets our modern utility requirements without any sacrifice whatever in design and is suitable for living room, dining-room and bedroom. In fact it is one of most versatile styles.

The illustration, in which the china cabinet is given prominence, is a delightful adaptation of the Queen Anne style by the craftsmen of the McLagan Furniture Co. Limited and is one of the most pleasing creations of present day craftsmanship.

QUICKLY
is the way Gyproc is applied

ESPECIALLY in new construction is speed an important factor. That is one reason why Gyproc Wallboard that does not burn has found favour with builders in Canada.

Gyproc is a wallboard made from gypsum rock in sheets 4 to 10 feet long, 4 feet wide and 3/8 of an inch thick. It is easy to handle, nails and cuts like lumber with a minimum of mess. It is used wherever interior walls, ceilings and partitions of fire resistant material are desired.

Gyproc is inexpensive, has structural strength, insulation value, stops draughts and rodents; and is an excellent base for Alabastine, Gyptex or other decorative medium, although its warm, ivory tone side needs none when panelled.

To seal the joints between the ivory-coloured sheets of Gyproc, use Gyproc Joint Filler.

Fireproof Frame Construction

No longer need frame construction be prey to fire. Practical experiments carried on during years of intensive research have proven that with Gyproc lining all interiors; Insulex, the great non-burning mineral insulation poured between joists and [illegible] inch Gyproc used for sheathing, frame construction is made impregnable to destruction by fire.

Beware of Substitution!

GYPROC is the Canadian pioneer, the first and best non-burning wallboard for lining inside walls and ceilings. Every board is plainly marked "GYPROC" for your protection. When you build, or remodel, be sure that you order Gyproc Wallboard. But more important—be certain that you get it and if a substitute is offered, be good enough to inform us immediately so that we can take steps to protect you and others from loss.

Here are some Uses:

Gyproc is the ideal material to use for converting waste space in your home into usable quarters, for remodelling stores, for farm buildings and for [illegible] fireproof partitions in factories or warehouses, etc. Gyproc is the ideal material to use

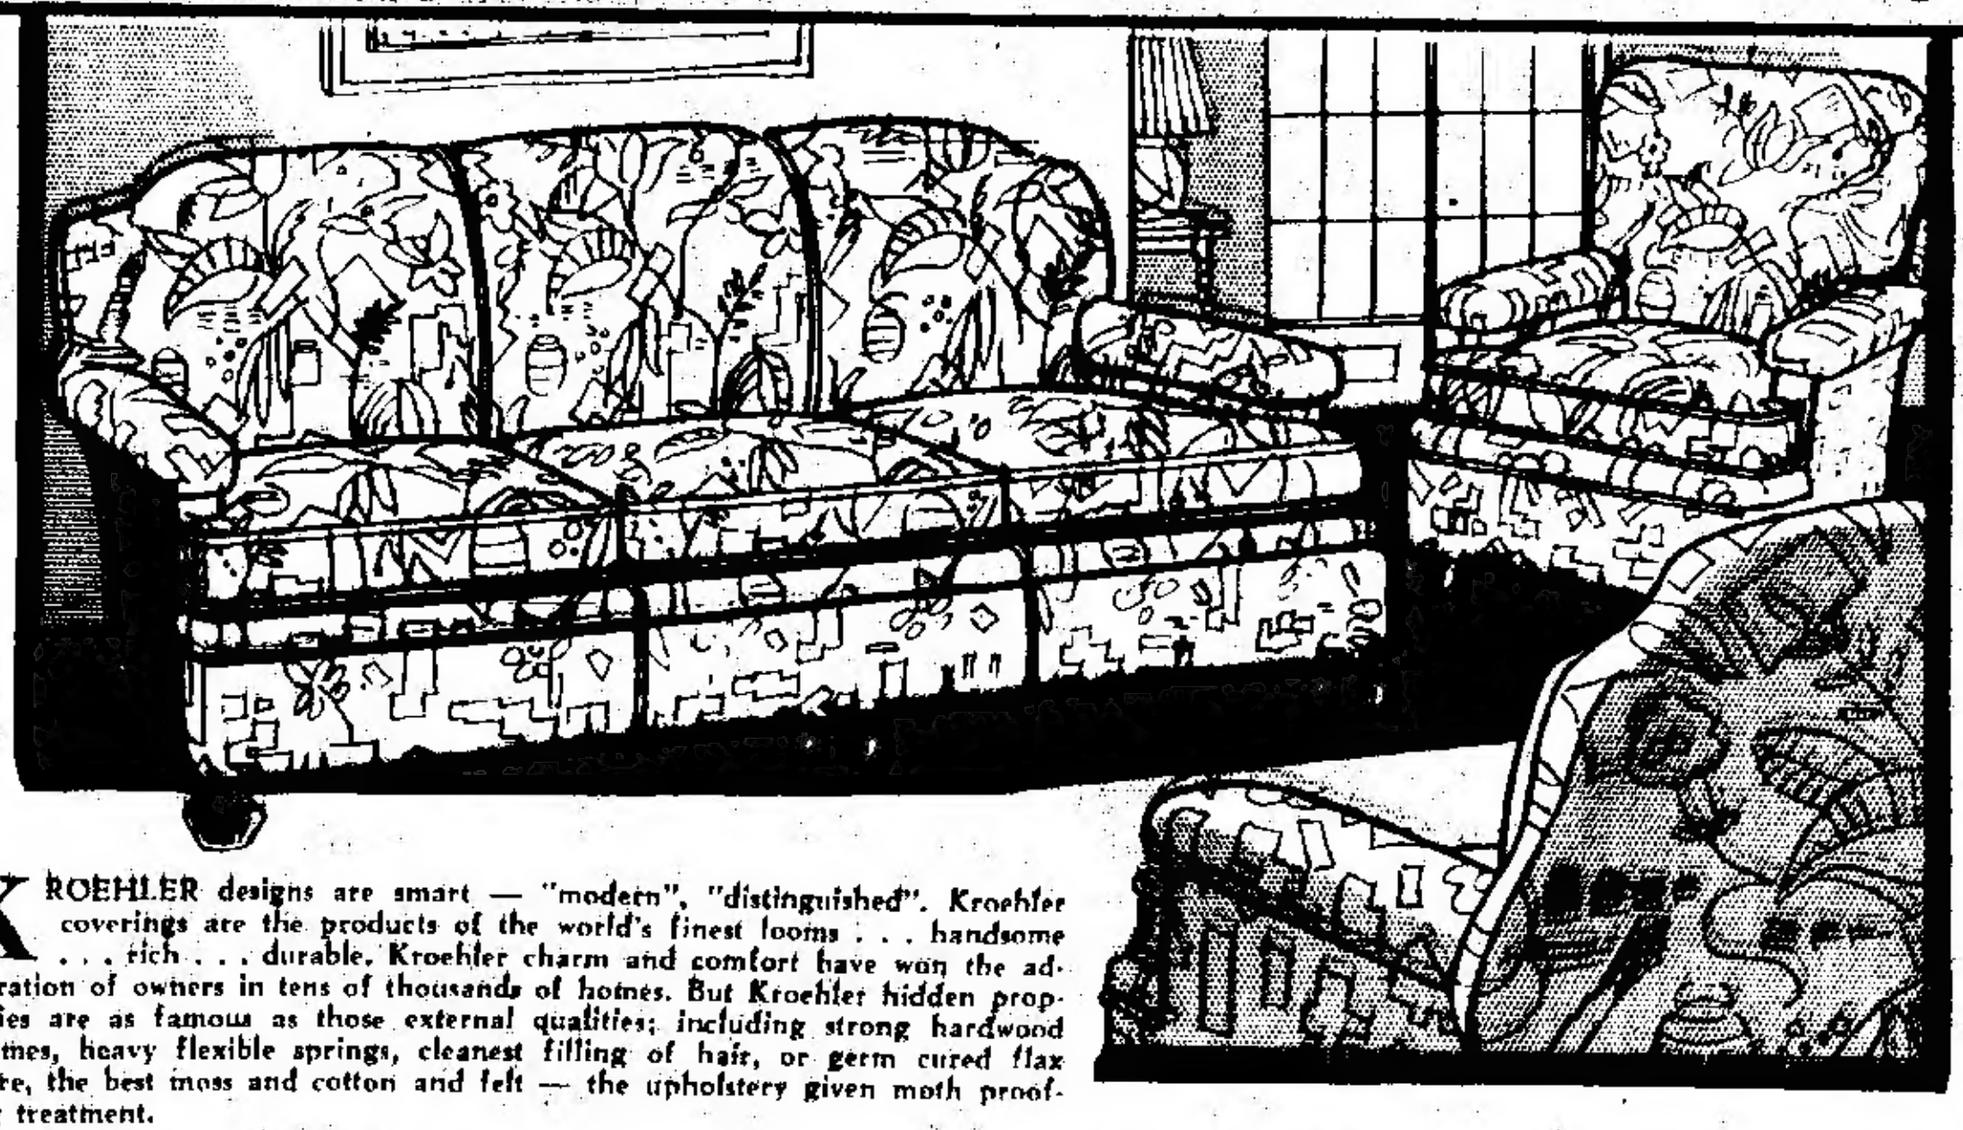
KROEHLER LIVING ROOM FURNITURE



KROEHLER designs are smart — "modern", "distinguished". Kroehler coverings are the products of the world's finest looms . . . handsome . . . rich . . . durable. Kroehler charm and comfort have won the admiration of owners in tens of thousands of homes. But Kroehler hidden properties are as famous as those external qualities; including strong hardwood frames, heavy flexible springs, cleanest filling of hair, or germ cured flax fibre, the best moss and cotton and felt — the upholstery given moth proofing treatment.

And when you add to these sound qualities the advantages of low costs consequent upon the purchasing savings and efficient operation of fourteen huge factories, exclusively devoted to the production of Living Room Furniture — you will readily appreciate why you can purchase Kroehler-made at such remarkably moderate prices.

Perennial Border

As the blooming period of perennials is rather short they should be planted in a border of from six to twenty feet in width so that sufficient groups of each variety may be introduced one behind the other to follow up with bloom. An effective border should be at least fifty feet long and as much more as space will permit. A carefully thought out plan is the only adequate way to the succession of bloom, colour grouping, and proper height gradation.

If your child won't drink milk

Here's a suggestion for a mother who has tried, without success, to coax the children to drink milk regularly. Many mothers tell us that they have overcome the unwillingness of even the most obstinate child by mixing a little Vi-Tone into the milk — the result is a delightfully flavored beverage — and it's just as good as it tastes.

Vi-Tone is a delicious combination of the essential vitamines of the Soya Bean, with Malt Extract. Added to milk, Vi-Tone increases its value many times — and children love its appetizing flavor.

Buy a tin of Vi-Tone at your Grocer's or Druggist's, or try Vi-Tone at the Soda Fountain.

roses. Sam Abel, brother of the bride, was best man. Mrs. Abel, mother of the bride, wore a black lace gown, with a corsage of American Beauty roses. Mrs. N. Benson, mother of the groom, wore black chiffon, with a corsage of American Beauties. Dinner was served to 60 guests. From out-of-town were: Mr. and Mrs. A. Bregman, Mr. and Mrs. S. Bregman, Mr. and Mrs. P. Bregman and son, Sam; Mr. and Mrs. B. Bregman, Mr. and Mrs. N. Benson and daughters, Bessie, Rose and Daisy, all of Toronto.

Cramer-Chervin

The marriage of Sadie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Chervin, to Sam Cramer, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. Cramer, took place Tuesday, May 26, at Beth David Synagogue, with Rabbi Herschorn officiating. The bride, given away by her father, wore a white lace gown, with insertions of satin bands. Her veil of tulle and lace was draped with a caudeau of orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses and lily-of-the-valley. Miss Eva Cramer, sister of the groom, as maid of honor, wore pale yellow chiffon, with accessories to match and carried Talisman roses. Harry Henneman was best man. The bridesmaids, all wearing flowered chiffon in pastel shades, with hats of beige moire, with ribbons to match their gowns, beige shoes and carrying bouquets of sweet peas, were: Misses Sally Chervin, sister of the bride; Pearl Abramovitz; Esther Cramer, sister of the bridegroom, Betty Perlitsky, Nettie Goldman, and Lily Golden. The train-bearers, Mary Stollar and Mary Abramovitz, wore frocks of pale pink georgette. The ushers were Hyman Chervin and Isidore Henneman. Mrs. Chervin, mother of the bride, wore an all lace black gown, with jacket, and a corsage of roses. Mrs. Cramer, mother of the groom, was gowned in black chiffon with sequin jacket and a corsage of roses. A reception was held in the hall of the synagogue. The bride and bridegroom left immediately following the ceremony for New York, Philadelphia and Atlantic City, for a three weeks' stay. Going away the bride wore a rose beige dress and coat, with snakeskin bag and shoes and small rose beige hat.

Levinson-Silberman

Saturday evening, May 16, the marriage was solemnized of Miss Rose Silberman, daughter of the late Louis Silberman and of Mrs. L. Silberman, to Lyon Levinson, son of the late N. Levinson and of Mrs. Levinson, 233 Elm Avenue, Westmount, at the home of the bride's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Silberman, in New York. Rev. Marius Ranson officiated. Mr. and Mrs. Lyon Levinson will live in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Naier Littner, announce the engagement of their daughter, Tmima, to Martin N. Cohn, son of Mrs. Joseph Cohn and the late Mr. Cohn. Marriage to take place late in June.

COMMENTARIES

By Rabbi HARRY J. STERN, of Montreal,
Associate Contributing Editor

"I DO NOT BELIEVE IN IT"

Ask a well-to-do man to contribute to one cause or another and very often you get the reply — "I do not believe in it." This dogmatic expression seems to be a good subterfuge for those rich who are parsimonious. But in reality when you examine the faith of such men you will find in most cases that they only have one great belief — They are "money-theists." The hoarding of money is their religion. They hate to part with the accumulated dollars. The "cold cash" makes them cold and insensate to most human appeals.

A FORWARD STEP

The dedication of the new Talmud Torah Building this coming Sunday marks a forward step in Jewish communal life. This building represents the first structure that Montreal Jewry ever erected in its entire history solely for the purpose of Jewish education. We congratulate the few zealous workers who in the main are responsible for the new stately structure. It takes courage and vision to erect communal buildings in these days of depression. But remember we must that Jews built Yeshiboth and schools long before there were stock markets. And what's more, Judaism is eternal — economic depressions are ephemeral. Our Mazol Tov to one and all who have made possible the new Talmud Torah building!

ON VACATION

For the next few months we are going to indulge in our annual vacation. We haven't as yet made up our mind the kind of vacation it will be. We may decide to mingle with the crowds along the shore or we may even take ourselves to a place of solitude "where none intrude." At any rate we shall find it difficult, under the spell of sheer leisure, to pen commentaries regularly. We trust our readers will forgive us.

George S. Mooney, Executive Secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association, witnessed the confirmation service held on Shabuoth at Temple Emanu-El (Montreal). His vivid personal impressions of the ceremony are recorded in a letter to us which we deem worthy to be read by all thinking people:

"The three hours spent at your Confirmation Service this morning were exercised a spiritual cleansing and healing that are worth many, many hours to me.

"I want to therefore thank you most sincerely for the opportunity to not only witness but to enter into most sincerely, a religious experience that I am sure will mean much to all thoughtful persons who were present. I wish to God it were possible for the whole event to be re-enacted for six or seven hundred good christian friends of mine. To realize again the great debt we owe to Israel and her people for revealing God's oneness and his attributes of love and mercy and the great storehouse of divine wisdom that your people have given as an inheritance to all people for all time, is to make one humble in the sight of a Jew and to understand somewhat the Sonship relationship conceived by Ancient and modern Judaism when they dare to believe that they are God's chosen people.

"I had several emotional stirs while present that have come to me rarely in the past. Of course I was impressed by the sheer simple beauty of the Temple itself and of the wonderful flowers that filled every nook and corner and every window sill, and the music of the organ and the wonderful blending of the voices of your very wonderful choir and of the Bible readings and hymns that were sung and prayers that were uttered, but these meant less to me than the inspiration one felt in the realization that nine young souls were meaningfully dedicating themselves to the worship and service of the Creator of men. There was nothing forced or artificial about their part in the service, nothing stilted or mechanical. They seemed to know the seriousness of the words they were uttering and of the implications of the vows they made.

"Oh, that we could release every youth in this land and every land to a committed life pledged to the bringing about of that reign of righteousness foretold in the prophets of other days. In the service to-day, there was nothing equating in the things they said or the words of admonition given them by their elders. It is to be hoped that the conservative caution of maturity will not dampen their zeal for the ideal that lies behind their faith.

"And when they had publicly pledged their lives and been blessed looking towards the Ark of the Covenant, what an inspiration to see them find their way to their parents there to receive a further parental blessing sealed with a holy kiss.

"It was a beautiful experience and has served in my case to have me come to an even deeper appreciation of the faith of Israel than I have had hitherto. I have imagined Jesus the Jew as being present this morning. Sitting in an obscure corner and drinking it all in and perhaps saying to himself that "the lighted torch of the law of Israel has again become quickened to my people. These many years has my restless spirit waited the day when once again her ancient heritage would be as a lamp unto the Gentiles."

"It is a distant hope for a far off Messianic age when the peoples of the Universe will worship at one throne and one alter, but if I do not miss my guess there are promising indications that the way is opening and that in Liberal Christianity and Reform Judaism lie two parallel roads that increasingly in the future will find their ways merging into one road that leads on to the City where lies the Tabernacle of God.

"You will forgive these hurried and very personal thoughts but I do want you to know how I feel about it all and this letter is but in earnest and sincere hope that your future will continue to allow you abundant opportunity to serve as Minister Plenipotentiary to the Christians."

THE ENEMY'S GATES

asked uneasily. "Why don't you wait for hot weather?"

"Because I'm tired out, for one thing," he let her know. "And because I think you've seen about enough of Hellmann."

"Oh—that's it!" She nodded at him through the blue clouds of her cigarette smoke. "And what's to prevent Phillip from following us out to California?"

Geoffrey's eyes snapped. "He can't do that—we'll settle him for good before we start."

"Better leave him alone, Geoffrey," she warned. "If you touch him, you'll be letting yourself in for a lot of trouble."

His head went up at a jerk and his eloquent nostrils expanded. "I have no intention of touching the fellow. I'm not one for brawls, Jessica." He gave a slight shudder of distaste. "We'll fix him together. I'll talk to him—and you'll be on hand to back me up in whatever I say. Quite simple, quite casual, you understand. Since there's nothing wrong in the business, it can be very easily called off." By his expression of serene superiority, he showed her that he took all the credit for the innocence of the peculiar relation.

"You must be crazy, Geoffrey — plain crazy." She spoke with a sudden exasperation. "I never heard such rot. As if I'd sit by and listen to your sarcasm — as if Philip would give you the chance to insult him!"

"I see no way out of it, for either of you." Geoffrey was glacially courteous. On his face, at that moment, she caught the inflexible hardness, the indomitable courage of the man battling for his ideals, for the honor and unsullied integrity that were his religion. She realized, with an uprush of wrath and resentment, that he was subduing her. She was on the brink of an incredible collapse.

Throwing down her cigarette, she sprang to her feet. Then, as she towered above him, furiously at bay, inspiration came to her. A sudden tremendous thought had rocked her brain.

"Look here, Geoffrey," she almost shouted. "The mischief's done. We've been lovers for months, you see!"

It was a heroic and triumphant lie. She had conquered. Geoffrey had leaped up out of the bed. He was staring at her in a sick horror. For the moment, he felt the suicidal remorse of a boy who wakes up in a stale brothel after his first night of lust. He had been sleeping in the bed of a prostitute. He loathed her and himself.

"That ends it — naturally that ends it." His voice was dry and scraping.

For the first time, Jessica saw him in a human anguish; and she was moved to commiseration and solicitude. "It's a shame, Geoffrey — a rotten shame," she murmured. "I swear I'm sorry."

"I'll not stay here," he said in the monotonous dulled tones of a man talking in his sleep. "I'll go out — somewhere — I don't know."

He grabbed up, from a chair, the tidy pile of his clothes. In a white shaking dignity, he went into the bathroom. The door slammed. He would not even dress in front of her; barring his body to her shameless eyes would have been an act of degradation now.

Alone in the bedroom, Jessica uttered a sorrowful sigh. "Poor boy," she mused. "Poor pitiful kid. But damn it all, it couldn't be helped."

Some Notes on the Waterfalls and Dam Reservoirs of Quebec which are still in a natural state, are remarkably well located for supplying the wants of the principal cities.

Thus for the vicinity of the city of Ottawa we find the Chats falls and other rapids of the Ottawa River and also those of the Gatineau River. Montreal, besides the enormous power just in use, the rapids of the St. Lawrence at Lachine, Lachine Canal, and also the Sault St. Louis commonly called Cascades Rapids on Back River and Chambly, the water powers on the River St. Maurice regulated by the large reservoirs at Lavaltrie on the Bayonne and Shawinigan regions, the rapids of the Chaudière, the outlet of Lake St. Johns and Joliette, the lower St. Lawrence, Quebec Shore, the falls of the Montmorency and of the Chaudière River, the most splendid populated regions of the Eastern Townships, the water powers of the St. Francis rivers, which have also all been established with reference to meet the demands for a great many years to come.

When access to the enormous hydraulic power developed by the Grand Discharge of the many rivers and lakes running down from the Laurentides, much more has been done, including previously undertaken. One of these, just mentioned in connection with the exploitation of the remarkable rapids of the Chaudière Discharge, has used as the outlet of Lake St. Johns, while the other comprises the development of one of the most important portions of the Magpie River, especially with the establishment of a powerful timber limits and the necessary mill privileges to enable the manufacture of pulp on paper on a large scale.

The enormous work of the Aluminum Development Company comprising the control of the outlet of the Grand Discharge of Lake St. John and the development, within five years, of a total power of 240,000 h.p. has required an outlay of $12,000,000.

The Belgo-Canadian Development Co. has recently finished the harnessing of the waters of the Grand Discharge in the vicinity of St. Joseph d'Alma, at a cost of $5,000,000 and operates a big mill. In connection with this undertaking, 12 units of 25,000 h.p. each have already been installed and 2 units of 12,500 h.p. each will be set in place. Thus the power house on Metabetchouan River which divides the Grand Discharge from Lake St. John, will have a total installation of 300,000 h.p. The total power which can be developed at the falls utilized will be from 100 to 120,000 h.p. The huge water power developed through the works which were described above, and which will be continued, will serve the enormous industries of the region. The Price Bros. Co. alone will utilize 150,000 h.p. the Shawinigan Power Co. 250,000 h.p., the Aluminum Co. of Canada [illegible] h.p., the Price Bros. Pulp and Paper Mills about 25,000 h.p., the Belgo-Canadian Pulp and Paper Co. Ltd., about 25,000 h.p.

Above Métabetchouan falls, on the Saguenay river, that is over a distance of [illegible] miles, the Price Bros. Co. will undertake, in the course of the [illegible] the harnessing of the Saguenay river, better known under the name of Grande Décharge. Normally Shipshaw River, that is where navigation is possible, has a flow of a capacity of about 800,000 h.p. with [illegible] flow of 80,000 h.p. each. The Shipshaw power house will be one of the kind in the world and will develop the total power of 1,600,000 h.p. It can therefore be said that, [illegible] the Saguenay region of 1,340,000 h.p. will be [illegible] Province of Quebec at the head of all the provinces of Canada. We can [illegible] that, with due respect to its population, the Province of Quebec will [illegible] among all the countries of the universe the one which realizes the greatest possession of its hydraulic wealth. In all [illegible] the cost of these two engineering works will attain to [illegible]

Other important undertakings will also be made. The Aluminum Co. of Canada Co., having acquired the Concession du Saguenay railroad, has now completed this railroad as far as the Chute à Caron. R. PROVENCHER COMPANY LIMITED

The firm of R. Provencher Company Limited, plating specialists, with complete modern equipment, are nickel, copper, silver, gold, platinum, brass, bronze, cadmium and oxidized finishers. Chromium has replaced nickel on a very large scale due to its high lustre and the advantage of staying that way, as it will never tarnish. This is the most opportune time to resilver old candle sticks, samovars and silverware of all descriptions that have been in the family from generation to generation. R. Provencher Company Limited can make old silverware look like new again at a very small cost, and as you know you cannot procure the same quality silverware now that you obtained many years ago. Their work is absolutely guaranteed and they are known from coast to coast for the quality of work they do.

Mr. R. Provencher, president and general manager, who has been known as a plating specialist for the past seventeen years, can boast of the largest shop of its kind in Canada. Mr. Provencher employs only the best plating specialists obtainable in the Province of Quebec. R. Provencher Company Limited have selling offices that take care of sales from coast to coast, the head office and factory being situated in Montreal.

ELECTRICAL GRADUATES

Thirty-Five Successful Students Receive Diplomas.

The results of the final examinations of the graduating classes of the Canadian School of Electricity, Limited, 1485 Bleury St., were passed upon by the board of examiners and resulted in thirty-five receiving their diplomas on Friday night.

Twenty-six were graduated from the day course in Junior Electrical Engineering. The final examinations leading to the diplomas embraced the subjects of electrical engineering, applied mathematics and electrical drafting.

Nine were graduated from the evening course in Practical Electricity and will receive certificates of Electrotechnicians.

Seven students who did not have all their work completed were given sufficient time to make up the work work and try again for the final examinations at a later date.

The diplomas were awarded by the president, Frederick C. Harris, to the following graduates:

Junior Electrical Engineering—Francis Ros, I. Arnoff, R. L. Parsegrew, F. Tessier, P. Corbeil, J. Taylor, Pierre, L. Rowell, V. Anderson, A. Holik, T. Bolanos, G. Cote, E. Kavanagh, W. Kenwood, R. Tellery, Kelly, M. McAuley, J. Mowat, D. Smith, H. Tankwood, M. Tyson, Ed. McQuillan, J. Jackson, L. Mowat, Chas. Cavagnetto.

Electrotechnicians—A. Bernard, H. Gauthier, R. Bedard, L. Shaw, R. Samuels, J. Gervais, A. Ferguson, R. Charbonneau, A. Sims.

The president gave some of the successful students a long list from which to choose and a number of successful students have already secured positions with the leading electrical companies in Montreal and many others have received positions.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear father, David Zipper who passed away June 2nd, 1928.

In our lonely hours of thinking,
Thoughts of you are always near
We who loved you sadly miss you,
As it dawns another year
Always remembered by his children.

FRATERNAL SOFTBALL

Games in the Fraternal Softball League last week, were postponed on account of the holidays. Tuesday night, Knights of Pythias tied with Grand Order of Israel 7 all after the Pythians were leading five to nil in the first inning. The second game of the night started late, with the result that Foresters and Rokeah were unable to finish, the game being called with the Jewish Druggists leading 10 to 7. The features of the games played is the competition of the various lodges. Judeans have a powerful nine, with the twirling of Benny Robinson. Several graduates of Bellwoods Softball League of last year, making a fine showing in the Fraternal Loop, are Harry Brown and Sammy Klyne, of the Judeans, Dave Pearson, and Ginsberg of the Foresters, Sam Brown, Chessin and Al Lederman of the Grand Order of Israel. Rokeah and Pythians both have teams which should be in the running. Kelly Kaplan of Judeans and George Lister of Bnai Brith are the only players who have knocked out official home runs, other members' blows being registered in games which were thrown out. Games for the coming week: Tuesday, June 2nd Grand Order of Israel meet Foresters in the early game with Knights of Pythias playing Rokeah in the late contest. On the following Friday night the first game will see Bnai Brith engaging Y.M.H.A. in the opening game with Judeans and Pride of Israel, strong rivals, in the closing battle.

JEWISH GIRLS' CAMP

M. HADLER, MANUFACTURING FURRIER MOVES TO NEW QUARTERS

On the eve of his departure to new quarters at 238 Bloor Street West, Toronto, Mr. M. Hadler, Manufacturing Furrier, who for the past twelve and a half years has carried on business at 186 King Street West, in the O'Brien Building, invites all his old friends to visit him at his Bloor Street address, where he will continue in the manufacturing and skin business.

Showrooms and plant are located in a fine residence facing the University Stadium, the front of which Mr. Hadler contemplates remodelling with a modern store front. This district houses some of Toronto's finest shops, and is rapidly becoming the mecca of interior decorators, tea rooms, modistes and milliners.

It is interesting indeed to learn that Hadler furs go to the best ladies' tailors and modistes throughout Canada, by whom they are sold to the first ladies of the land for wear to court functions in England and presentations and receptions at Ottawa. It has been the purpose of Mr. Hadler's business life to offer the highest grade furs at the lowest possible price. This, coupled with his originality and designing ability have made Hadler furs renowned.

The Census of Canada 1931

In the opening weeks of June every family and every home in Canada will be visited by a representative of the Government for the great national purpose of taking the seventh census of Canada.

The census is really a stocktaking. That is, it provides the information to enable the Government and others interested in the development of the country to formulate progressive policies for the happiness, comfort and prosperity of our people.

All the information supplied is strictly confidential, and the officers of the Government are subject to severe penalty if they disclose any of the information which is given to them by residents in the country, to any other than the Government.

Furthermore, it has nothing whatever to do with taxation, or military service, or compulsory school attendance, or immigration, or any such matter; and the Government itself cannot use it except for statistical totals.

The Government representative will put the same questions to all, and it is your duty as a resident of this country to answer promptly and truthfully. The Government is very anxious to avoid forcing anyone to answer these questions, but it is empowered to do so in the few cases where individuals may refuse.

Minister
HON. SENATOR G. D. ROBERTSON

Deputy Minister
H. H. WARD

PRINCIPAL ACTIVITIES

Industrial Disputes Investigation Act. —The administration of the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act, which provides for the establishment of Boards of Conciliation and Investigation in cases of disputes affecting mines and public utilities. Applications under the terms of the statute from its inception in 1907 to March 31, 1930, numbered 729. Boards were granted in 499 cases, and in only 38 instances was the cessation of work which threatened not averted or the strike which had been already entered upon not ended.

Conciliation.—The maintenance of a staff of officers at various points whose services are utilized in the adjustment of labour disputes.

Fair Wages. —The administration of the Fair Wage Policy of the Government of Canada, which provides for observance of the current wages rates and hours of the district on Government contracts and on railway construction towards which financial aid has been voted by Parliament.

Labour Statistics and Information. —The collection, compilation and publication of statistics of wages, hours, prices, cost of living, strikes and lockouts, industrial accidents and industrial agreements.

Labour Organization. —Compilation and publication of a comprehensive annual report on labour organization setting forth the chief activities of organized labour in the Dominion, with complete statistics on the subject, together with information regarding the nature of the organizations with which the Canadian organized workers are identified; also containing a complete labour directory giving the names and addresses of the chief executive officers of all central labour organizations on the continent known to the Department, as well as a list of local branch unions existing in each locality in the Dominion.

Organization in Industry, Commerce and the Professions. —Compilation and publication of an annual report on organization in industry, commerce and the professions—a volume containing much information concerning Canadian associations of persons whose field of endeavour is of paramount importance in the industries and commerce of the Dominion and also giving information regarding those engaged in professional and scientific pursuits.

Co-operative Associations — Compilation and publication of an Annual Report on Co-operative Associations in Canada, containing a directory of such societies, and showing the extent of the co-operative movement in the Dominion.

Industrial Investigation and Research Work.—The conduct of investigational and research work bearing on industrial relations and labour conditions and the publication of bulletins of information on these subjects.

Labour Gazette. —The monthly publication of the "Labour Gazette", containing a review of the industrial situation throughout Canada, a record of proceedings under the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act, statistics of wages and hours, wholesale and retail prices in Canada and other countries, strikes and lockouts, industrial accidents, summaries of laws and legal decisions affecting labour, and other information on current matters of industrial and labour interest.

Labour Legislation in Canada. — The compilation and publication of reports containing the texts of the labour laws of the Dominion Parliament and of the Provincial Legislatures.

Library.—The maintenance of a library of publications on labour and economic subjects.

Employment Service of Canada. — The administration of the Employment Offices' Co-ordination Act, under which, in co-operation with various Provincial Governments, free public employment offices are maintained in 90 centres, statistical information relative to employment conditions is also collected and published. The Employment Service placed 447,236 applicants in work during the fiscal year 1930-31, of whom 7,673 were handicapped ex-service men.

International Labour Organization (League of Nations).— The collection and transmission of information required by the International Labour Conference and Office; correspondence with Federal and Provincial Government departments and with organizations of employers and employees relative thereto; the representation of Canada at the International Labour Conference and on the Governing Body of the International Labour Office.

Technical Education. —The administration of the Technical Education Act, which provides for the purpose of promoting technical education; the collection and publication of information in the form of bulletins and otherwise.

Canadian Government Annuities. —The administration of the Government Annuities Act, whereby provision may be made for the purchase of annuities by individuals or by associations on behalf of their members, or by employers on behalf of their employees. The annuity contracts issued from the date of the inception of the Annuities Branch, Sept. 1, 1908, to March 31, 1931, totalled 13,293 and the amount of purchase money received during the same period was $28,472,321.85.

Combines Investigation Act.—The administration of the Combines Investigation Act which provides machinery for investigation of alleged combines.

Old Age Pensions Act. —The administration of the Old Age Pensions Act, which provides for a contributory provincial system of old age pensions to needy persons seventy years of age and over. The Act becomes operative in any province only on the request of the province, after having been accepted by the Parliament of Canada and the Legislature of the province concerned. Any province having an Act coming into force after the 1st January, 1927, may participate in the benefits of the Act on the same terms as the provinces which were parties to the original agreement. Nine provinces have now passed Old Age Pensions Acts. [illegible] 42,28[illegible] persons were in receipt of pensions.
